Tidal sailing presents every skipper with special challenges. Especially strong currents and dry passages require detailed planning and safe and precise navigation.

The Segelwelt.at tidal Sail training offers you the possibility to learn the exciting tidal sea and to prepare you for special destinations with a lot of tidal range.

Training contents: tidal navigation, current sailing, safety at sea, seamanship, watch systems, controls, ...

Choice of sailing intensity (please leave a note in the notes section on the registration form):

- Intensive: Sailing and exploring Scotland from the water is absolutely essential. The gennaker will be set if the wind direction allows it and it is possible due to the wind speed. The motor is used when there is no wind and when mooring for the last meters and even that not always ;-).
- Good balance: Sailing is important to you, but also to experience the land. We don't need the most complicated and exhausting way to get to a new bay or port. Later departures can be compensated with earlier moorings.
